Block account entries

You can find this function in the menu under Turnover/Year-end closing/Block account entries. Before the archive function was available, it was used for customers with card systems or catering accounts, as these sales accounts can contain a large number of postings. With the use of the archive function, we no longer recommend „Block account entries“!

You should bear in mind that precise (time) statistics on these postings are no longer possible if you block account entries. A classic Annual financial statements is the alternative. This has the advantage that the history is retained 1:1.

Please only use this function in consultation with PC CADDIE Support.
